

International Mooting Competitions

International competitions give students the opportunity to compete against international students on issues of international law, diversifying the mooting experience and extending their knowledge base outside the remit of national law. We have experienced great success in these competitions with a semi-final prize for the best speaker in the National Law School of India Moot in 2008 and teams sent off in previous years to the prestigious Jessups International Moot Court Competition and the Willem C. Vis International Commercial Arbitration Moot in Vienna and we wish to do the same this year. If you have received a high score in the preliminary rounds of the Internal Moot in previous years or reached the quarter-finals last and beyond, sign up below to register your interest and we will send you more details.

Please fill in as appropriate and email to mooting@warwicklawsociety.com

Name:
University email address:
University Number:
Course/year of study:
Mooting experience:
Competition (do you have a particular international moot you wish to participate in? If not, you will be allocated to a competition by us).
Any additional information?	